9 Heidi Powell, an Arizona resident,
10 Plaintiff,
11 v.
12 Kent Powell and Heidi Powell, husband
13 and wife,
14 Defendants.

Case No. 2:16-cv-02386-SRB

Plaintiff’s Motion for Sanctions

(Assigned to the Hon. Susan R. Bolton)

16 Pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 11 & 28 U.S.C. § 1927, Plaintiff Heidi Powell hereby 17 files her Motion for Sanctions against Defendants and their counsel for their continued
18 frivolous pursuit of unfounded counterclaims against Plaintiff. Defense counsel’s 19 actions were taken for the improper purpose of generating publicity and harassing and 20 needlessly increasing the cost of litigation, in violation of Rule 11. Defendants are 21 aware that certain of their allegations and claims have no basis in fact or law.
22 Specifically, Defendants know that Plaintiff’s allegations did not result in the disabling 23 and/or suspension of the domain name at issue; they know that they do not own the 24 domain name because it is part of their previous bankruptcy estate; and they know that 25 statutory damages are inapplicable under these facts.
26

1 Plaintiff also seeks sanctions under 28 U.S.C. § 1927 for unreasonably and 2 vexatiously multiplying the proceedings in this matter. This Motion for Sanctions was 3 properly served under Fed. R. Civ. P. 5 and 21 days has elapsed since such service.
 4 Plaintiff has made minor revisions to this motion since it was served, which revisions
 5 are reflected through the use of Track Changes. This Motion is supported by the 6 following Memorandum of Points and Authorities.

7 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

8 I. BACKGROUND FACTS

9 Plaintiff Heidi Powell is a fitness celebrity who has published several books, has 10 appeared on various television shows, and is very active in online media. She is well
 11 known in the fitness community, and has been featured on ABC's reality weight-loss 12 television show Extreme Weight Loss. Years ago, Plaintiff attempted to obtain the 13 domain name <heidipowell.com>. She assumed the domain name was available because 14 it was merely "parked"—the public face of the website was a placeholder and had never 15 been put into use. She soon found, however, that the domain name was not available 16 because it had been reserved by someone else—Defendant Kent Powell—who was 17 merely parking the domain name and had been for years. Plaintiff made various 18 attempts to reach out to try to purchase the domain name. Defendants generally resisted 19 and, at one point, demanded $50,000. Sometime thereafter, Defendants, for the first 20 time, posted content on the site, linking to their web development and design services to 21 exploit the increased traffic intended for Plaintiff.¹

22 _____
 23 ¹ Based on Plaintiff's counsel's recollection, in a conference call between Plaintiff's
 24 counsel and defense counsel, defense counsel stated Defendants have, in fact, received
 25 mistaken inquiries from gyms. Defense counsel has since clarified that he meant 26 Defendants "had been harassed by hang-up calls from a gym in the Phoenix area" and that their "clients believe Plaintiff is responsible for the harassment." While this was not how Plaintiff's counsel understood the conversation, it is possible that defense counsel's statements were intended to convey this alternative meaning.

JABURG | WILK
Attorneys at Law

1 Plaintiff filed a lawsuit based on cybersquatting because the domain name, which 2 was registered by Defendant Kent Powell, had sat dormant and unused for years and
3 was only recently populated with content to exploit the value created by Plaintiff’s
4 interest in the site and by web-traffic confusion. Cybersquatting exists where a party
5 registers and “parks” a domain name solely for the purpose of keeping it from others
6 and exploiting someone else’s trademark. That is what appears to have happened here.
7 However, Plaintiff never had and never has taken any action to cause the website
8 domain registrar to remove registration, transfer, disable, cancel, or in any way disrupt 9 Defendants’ possession of the websitedomain.

10 Before Defendants filed the Answer and Counterclaim, Plaintiff offered to 11 dismiss the lawsuit if Defendants would simply provide proof of use of the domain
12 name for email prior to Plaintiff’s use in commerce in connection with her trademark.
13 See Letter dated August 26, 2016, attached hereto as Exhibit A.

14 Defendants refused to provide the information requested by Plaintiff in the 15 August 26 letter and instead filed the Answer and Counterclaim on September 9, 2016.
16 Also on September 9, 2016, Plaintiff offered to dismiss the complaint in exchange for 17 Defendants dismissing the counterclaims. Defendants accepted. The parties entered into 18 an agreement to mutually dismiss the lawsuit with prejudice. Plaintiff drafted and 19 provided the joint stipulation to Defendants. Thereafter, Defendants sent a letter
20 purporting to revoke the agreement and threatening to file a Rule 11 motion if Plaintiff 21 did not unilaterally dismiss the complaint.

22 On September 15, 2016, Plaintiff moved to voluntarily dismiss her complaint.
23 Defendants opposed Plaintiff’s voluntary dismissal on grounds the motion did not 24 specifically dismiss the claims with prejudice and did not include an award of fees to 25 Defendants. Plaintiff soon learned that Defendants and defense counsel decided to use 26 an aggressive litigation stance to generate publicity for themselves and their law firm.

1 Defense counsel are representing Defendants on a pro bono basis, presumably because 2 Plaintiff is a fitness celebrity, and the case, therefore, had the potential to be high
3 profile. Defendants began issuing press releases nationally and generating buzz around 4 their aggressive litigation stance.

5 Plaintiff's reply in support of her voluntary motion to dismiss indicated
6 Defendants' counterclaims were meritless based on the plain language of the statute.
7 (Doc. 17). Plaintiff had never taken action to cause the registrar to do anything
8 concerning the websitedomain. The reply also indicated that Defendants do not own the 9 website domain name at issue because it remained the property of Defendants' 10 bankruptcy estate.

11 Defendants immediately filed a surreply arguing the counterclaims were not 12 meritless because Plaintiff had taken action to "lock" the domain. (Doc. 19). As 13 evidence, Defendants attached a printout of the WHOIS website information, where the 14 status of the site shows it is locked. (Doc. 19-2). Defendants' Counterclaim generally 15 alleges that "Plaintiff's allegations have resulted in the disabling and/or suspension the 16 heidipowell.com domain name thereby limiting Mr. and Mrs. Powell's lawful use of the 17 domain name." (Doc. 13, Counterclaim ¶ 45). However, the lock on the site is a default 18 lock placed on all domains by GoDaddy to help counteract hackers' efforts to 19 commandeer and steal websites. A registrant simply needs to click a button to remove 20 the lock. Plaintiff did not place the lock on the site. And, in fact, the lock has existed 21 since as early as November 24, 2013, long before Plaintiff took any action related to the 22 domain name. See Domain Tools Report for <www.heidipowell.com> dated May 2, 23 2016, attached hereto as Exhibit B.

24 When Defendants refused to dismiss the counterclaims, Plaintiff was forced to 25 file an answer. (Doc. 21). Within hours of filing the answer, Defendants filed a motion 26 for judgment on the pleadings as to its counterclaims. (Doc. 22). As a result of

JABURG | WILK
Attorneys at Law

1 Defendants’ unjustified aggressive litigation tactics, Plaintiff was forced to incur the 2 expense of further defending against the frivolous counterclaims.

3 The multiple filings by Defendants in the case misrepresent that Defendants own
4 the domain name. Defendants filed bankruptcy in 2012 and failed to list the domain
5 name on their bankruptcy schedules. Thus, the asset remained the property of the 6 bankruptcy estate upon discharge.

7 II. ARGUMENT

8 A. Defendants’ Pursuit of the Counterclaim Violate Rule 11 of the 9 Federal Rules of Procedure; Sanctions are Appropriate.

10 Defendants’ counterclaims have neither legal nor factual basis. Rule 11(b), Fed.
11 R. Civ. P., provides that a party presenting a pleading or motion to the court thereby 12 certifies, inter alia, that the filing “is not being presented for any improper purpose, 13 such as to harass, cause unnecessary delay, or needlessly increase the cost of litigation,” 14 that “the claims, defenses, and other legal contentions are warranted by existing law or 15 by a nonfrivolous argument,” and that “the factual contentions have evidentiary 16 support.” Fed. R. C. P. 11(b)(1)–(3).

17 The U.S. Supreme Court makes clear that the objective of Rule 11 is to deter
18 baseless filings and curb abuses. Business Guides, Inc. v. Chromatic Communications
19 Enterprises, Inc., 498 U.S. 533 (1991). The Court has held that an attorney who signs 20 the paper without a substantiated belief “shall” be penalized by “an appropriate 21 sanction.” Cooter & Gell v. Hartmarx Corp., 496 U.S. 384, 393-394 (1990). Such a 22 sanction may include payment of expenses. Id. Although the Rule is read in light of 23 concerns that it will spawn satellite litigation and chill vigorous advocacy, any 24 interpretation must “give effect to the Rule’s central goal of deterrence.” Id.

25 If, after notice and a reasonable opportunity to respond, the court determines that 26 Rule 11 has been violated, the court may impose an appropriate sanction on any attorney, law firm, or party that violated the rule or is responsible for the violation. Fed.

1 R. Civ. P. 11(c)(1). The sanction may include reasonable attorney fees, including 2 attorney fees incurred for the motion. Rule 11(c)(2), (4).

3 Under Rule 11(c)(2), a party is entitled to a 21 day period, following service of a 4 motion for sanctions, to withdraw an offending pleading before it can be the subject of a
5 sanctions award. In accordance with that provision of the Rule, this Motion was served 6 on Defendants, on October 4, 2016, by both e-mail and U.S. mail.

7 1. The Counterclaim Fails as a Matter of Law.

8 a) Defendants do not own the domain name at issue.

9 A bankruptcy debtor has an affirmative duty to disclose assets in bankruptcy, and 10 failure to do so means the asset remains the property of the bankruptcy estate and does 11 not revert to the debtor upon discharge. Cusano v. Klein, 264 F.3d 936, 946 (9th Cir.
12 2001) (citing Stein v. United Artists Corp., 691 F.2d 885, 893 (9th Cir. 1982)).
13 Defendants filed a Chapter 7 bankruptcy in 2012 and failed to disclose the domain name 14 as an asset on their bankruptcy schedules. See Chapter 7 Voluntary Petition (dkt. 1), In 15 re Powell, 12-11140-MLB (Bankr. W.D. Wash. Feb. 8, 2012). Thus, the domain name
16 remains the property of the bankruptcy estate. Indeed, the bankruptcy trustee recently 17 re-opened the bankruptcy for the purpose of disposing of the asset. See Ex Parte Order 18 Re-Opening Chapter 7 Case (dkt. 20), In re Powell, 12-11140-MLB (Bankr. W.D.
19 Wash. Sep. 19, 2016). Since Defendants do not own the domain name at issue, they 20 cannot pursue the counterclaims concerning the domain name.

21 Defendants are aware that Defendants do not own the websitedomain. Even if 22 Defendants were not aware at the time they filed the Counterclaim, they soon learned
23 this fact. In the media coverage generated by Defendants, one article quotes defense 24 counsel on the issue of the bankruptcy. At the very latest, Defendants learned that 25 Defendants did not own the website-domain name when Plaintiff filed her reply in 26 support of her voluntary motion to dismiss. Nevertheless, Defendants, thereafter, filed a

1 surreply and followed it with a motion for judgment on the pleadings. It appears
2 Defendants are pressing these counterclaims and forcing Plaintiff to incur unnecessary
3 costs as leverage to obtain the website-domain for Defendants. Although the 4 counterclaims lack any basis whatsoever (as detailed further below), Defendants haves
5 proposed that they will drop the counterclaims if Plaintiff will buy the domain name out
6 of bankruptcy and transfer it back to Defendants. See demand letter dated September 29,
7 2016, attached hereto as Exhibit C (proposing, inter alia, “[y]our client will purchase
8 the HeidiPowell.com domain name from the bankruptcy trustee and simultaneously
9 transfer ownership of the HeidiPowell.com domain name back to Mr. and Mrs. Powell 10 in a manner that will not cause any disruption to their ability to use the 11 HeidiPowell.com domain name.”). Thus, Defendants are aware Defendants do not own 12 the domain name at issue. Their efforts in pressing the meritless counterclaims are in 13 bad faith.

14 b) The relied-upon statutes do not provide relief because 15 they require action by a “registry, registrar, or other 16 registration authority.”

16 Defendants pled two causes of action under the Anticybersquatting Consumer 17 Protection Act (“ACPA”), a subpart of Lanham Act § 32, 15 U.S.C. § 1114.
18 Defendants’ first count, under 15 U.S.C. § 1114(2)(D)(v)), provides as follows:

19 A domain name registrant whose domain name has been 20 suspended, disabled, or transferred under a policy described 21 under clause (ii)(II) may, upon notice to the mark owner, 22 file a civil action to establish that the registration or use of 23 the domain name by such registrant is not unlawful under 24 this chapter. The court may grant injunctive relief to the 25 domain name registrant, including the reactivation of the 26 domain name or transfer of the domain name to the domain name registrant.

24 The phrase “a policy described under clause (ii)(II)” refers to “the 25 implementation of a reasonable policy by such registrar, registry, or authority 26 prohibiting the registration of a domain name that is identical to, confusingly similar to,

1 or dilutive of another’s mark.” 15 U.S.C. § 1114(2)(D)(ii)(II). The only remedy
2 available is injunctive relief to reverse the action taken under the registrar’s policy. Id.
3 § 1114(2)(D)(v)). Initially, without ownership of the domain, Defendants have no cause
4 of action under this part of the statute. And, in any event, the domain name has not been 5 suspended, disabled, or transferred under such a policy—and certainly not by Plaintiff.
6 The originally cited lock on the website-domain is-was a default status, and Defendants
7 are-were able to remove it themselves. The lock existed on the site since long before
8 “Plaintiff’s allegations” could have possibly caused any disruption of Defendants’ 9 possession.

10 Thus, Defendants’ first cause of action has no basis in fact or law.

11 Defendants’ second cause of action, under 15 U.S.C. § 1114(2)(D)(iv), similarly 12 provides as follows:

13 (iv) If a registrar, registry, or other registration
14 authority takes an action described under clause (ii)
15 based on a knowing and material misrepresentation by 16 any other person that a domain name is identical to,
17 confusingly similar to, or dilutive of a mark, the person
18 making the knowing and material misrepresentation shall be 19 liable for any damages, including costs and attorney’s fees, incurred by the domain name registrant as a result of such action. The court may also grant injunctive relief to the domain name registrant, including the reactivation of the domain name or the transfer of the domain name to the domain name registrant.

20 There, the “action described under clause (ii)” refers to actions taken by either a 21 court order or a registrar, registry, or other registration authority to refuse registration,
22 remove registration, transfer, temporarily disable, or permanently cancel a domain
23 name. Id. § 1114(2)(D)(iv). A claim under this subsection is essentially a claim for 24 abuse of process or malicious prosecution, and it comes with a heavy burden of proof.
25 See 5 McCarthy on Trademarks and Unfair Competition § 25A:38 (4th ed.) (“[T]he 26

1 burden of proving such a claim is heavy, requiring proof that the mark owner made a
2 ‘knowing and material misrepresentation.’”).

3 Here, “a registrar, registry, or other registration authority” ~~has had~~ taken no
4 action ~~as of the date this Motion was served to date~~. Plaintiff has not made any “knowing
5 and material misrepresentation.” Plaintiff has a valid trademark in her name. Defendants 6 have parked a domain name that is identical to Plaintiff’s mark. Everything stated in the 7 lawsuit was true. Nevertheless, the lock on the domain name has existed since at least 8 November of 2013, long prior to any action by Plaintiff. “Plaintiff’s allegations” could 9 not have possibly elicited the lock on the ~~websitedomain~~. Importantly, Defendants ~~could~~ 10 ~~have can~~ removed the ~~previously existing~~ lock with the click of a button if they choose 11 to do so. Thus, Defendants’ second cause of action is also unfounded.

12 c) The relied-upon statutes do not provide for statutory 13 damages for Defendants.

14 Defendants prayed for an award of statutory damages in the maximum amount of 15 $100,000.00 against Plaintiff pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1117(d). As was likely intended 16 by Defendants, this requested relief became the subject of media attention with the 17 media speculating that celebrity Heidi Powell could be ordered to pay Defendants 18 $100,000. The cited provision, however, while an attractive carrot for the media, is 19 wholly inapplicable to Defendants’ claims in this case.

20 15 U.S.C. § 1117(d) provides that “[i]n a case involving a violation of section 21 1125(d)(1) of this title, the plaintiff may elect, at any time before final judgment is 22 rendered by the trial court, to recover, instead of actual damages and profits, an award
23 of statutory damages in the amount of not less than $1,000 and not more than $100,000 24 per domain name, as the court considers just.”

25 Defendants counterclaims are alleged under provisions of 15 U.S.C. § 1114.
26 (Doc. 13). Defendants are not, and never have been, the plaintiff in a case involving violation of section 1125(d)(1), which is the cyberpiracy prevention provision—the 1 basis of Plaintiff's claims. Section 1125(d)(1) provides protection to trademark owners

2 against the bad faith intent to profit from use of their mark. Section 1117(d) is express 3 and unambiguous that statutory damages are only recoverable by the plaintiff.

4 B. Sanctions Are Also Appropriate Under 28 U.S.C. § 1927.

5 In addition to Rule 11, the Court may award sanctions under 28 U.S.C. § 1927.
6 The statute provides that "any attorney . . . who so multiplies the proceedings in any 7 case unreasonably and vexatiously may be required by the court to satisfy personally the 8 excess costs, expenses, and attorneys' fees reasonably incurred because of such 9 conduct." 28 U.S.C. § 1927.

10 For the same reasons articulated in the preceding sections, the Court should 11 assess sanctions under 28 U.S.C. § 1927. Plaintiff indicated a willingness to dismiss the 12 lawsuit before Defendants even prepared Defendants' answer. Shortly thereafter, 13 Plaintiff agreed to mutually dismiss the lawsuit even without the requested evidence of 14 use. Plaintiff then unilaterally dismissed the lawsuit even after Defendants purported to 15 withdraw its assent to the agreed-upon mutual dismissal. Defendants are aware 16 Defendants do not own the domain name and that the counterclaims have no merit.
17 Nevertheless, Defendants continues to zealously pursue the counterclaims. Thus,
18 Defendants should reimburse Plaintiff for the unnecessary expenses incurred defending 19 against the frivolous Counterclaim.

20 III. CONCLUSION

21 For the foregoing reasons, Plaintiff Heidi Powell respectfully requests that the 22 Court assess sanctions against Defendant's and defense counsel under Rule 11(c) and 28
23 U.S.C. § 1927 for continuing to pursue a frivolous counterclaim for an improper 24 purpose and for unreasonably and vexatiously multiplying the proceedings of this case.
25 Plaintiff requests its reasonable attorney fees incurred in defending against the 26 counterclaim and in making this Motion for Sanctions.

Re: Powell v. Powell

Dear Mr. Weslow:

I am in receipt of your letter of August 15, 2016. As I mentioned in my email, please note that the email addresses that you have in the email line of your letter are incorrect for both me and Laura Rogal. My email address is above, and Ms. Rogal's is lar@jaburgwilk.com

Initially, I note that my client has no intention to bully or harm your client. Indeed, my client has made numerous overtures to purchase the domain name for fair value. Your letter ignores the reality that your client benefits from the misdirection of traffic that is intended for my client and from the search engine ranking that her website receives when those looking for my client search her name. You euphemistically refer to this as "personal value" to your client.

I also note that neither I nor my client had any knowledge of a bankruptcy nor of PTSD and it is entirely unclear how you think we would know that.

Importantly, I do not believe that your pro bono client has told you the full story. We know that the domain name was parked at relevant times and we do not believe it was being used by your client until after my client became famous. The ACPA requires only that your client has a bad faith intent to profit from using my client's trademark as a domain name. Notably, the statute applies where the domain owner registers, traffics in, or uses a domain name that is identical or confusingly similar to a trademark. While a finding of bad faith is essential, "evidence of bad faith may arise well after registration of the domain name." Lahoti v. VeriCheck, Inc., 586 F.3d 1190, 1202 (9th Cir. 2009). Congress intended the cybersquatting statute to make rights to a domain name registration contingent on ongoing conduct rather than make them fixed at the time of registration. Storey v. Cello Holdings, L.L.C., 347 F.3d 370, 385 (2d Cir. 2003).

We strongly disagree that your client has trademark priority over my client.

David E. Weslow

August 26, 2016

There is no evidence that your client has any trademark rights in the name and certainly no trademark rights that predate our client's trademark rights.

Your letter states that your clients used the domain name since purchase for email services and to promote various home-based businesses. Again, that is not our understanding. If you provide proof of legitimate use of the domain name (rather than it being parked) that predates my client's use in commerce in connection with her trademark, we will withdraw the lawsuit.

Finally, I would like to revisit the possibility of a win-win resolution. In light of your client's bankruptcy, it would seem that a purchase of the domain name by my client would be a mutually beneficial result. If your client would reconsider, please feel free to contact me.

During our discussions, we are amenable to an open extension of time to answer the complaint. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

JABURG & WILK, P.C.

Hosting History

DomainTools tracks changes to a domain name's IP address, name server and registrar. These events can be useful signals that may indicate more macro events, including: domain name sales, transfers or deletions; taking a site live with new content; or a change in registration or hosting profile.

Screenshot History

DomainTools captures snapshots of website homepages on regular intervals. This content is useful for researchers to understand how a domain was used at various points in time. Due to the relatively high storage costs of screenshot data, the coverage of screenshot histories is in most cases not as thorough as Whois or hosting data, and this is especially true for dates early in a domain's history.

No records found for this domain.

Connected Domains

Shared IP Address

DomainTools uses proprietary techniques to discover other domain names that are hosted on the same IP address (web host) as HeidiPowell.com. This is a sample of up to 100 randomly-selected domains from that dataset. Access to this data provides context in cases where knowing associated domain names has value.

The exhaustive list of connected domains by IP address is available in the Reverse IP product at DomainTools.com.

Re: Powell v. Powell, Case No. 2:16-cv-02386 (D. Ariz.)

Dear Maria:

As an initial matter, it has come to our attention that your client recently underwent out-patient surgery. Notwithstanding our differences with regard to this dispute, Mr. and Mrs. Powell wish your client the best of health and a speedy recovery.

With regard to the matter at hand, I hope it is now clear to you and your client that Mr. and Mrs. Powell have no desire to use the HeidiPowell.com domain name in a manner that trades off of your client's persona. Nevertheless, it is important to Mrs. Powell to retain ownership of the domain name for her personal use (including many years' worth of e-mails, account logins, etc.). Accordingly, we will continue to vigorously pursue this matter to the extent necessary, including our pursuit of attorneys' fees (which are now well into the tens of thousands of dollars) and a finding of reverse domain name hijacking. Mr. and Mrs. Powell also intend to pursue every available avenue to keep your client from stealing the domain name through the bankruptcy. Thus, if you continue to pursue this matter, not only will your client never obtain the HeidiPowell.com domain name, but she also faces the prospect of having to pay a six figure judgment on top of your fees as well as continuing publicity associated with the lawsuit given the unanimous view of the baselessness of her claims by legal scholars and reporters alike.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Powell have every right to be outraged by your client's ruthless efforts to obtain a domain name that she has no right to forcibly acquire, what they really want is to return to the status quo before your client filed her meritless lawsuit.

Accordingly, Mr. and Mrs. Powell are willing to enter into a settlement agreement on the following terms:

- The parties will file a joint dismissal of the Complaint and Counterclaims, with prejudice;
- Mr. and Mrs. Powell will withdraw their pending request for an award of attorneys' fees and costs;
- Mr. and Mrs. Powell will agree to refrain from opposing your client's soon-to-be published trademark application;
- Your client will purchase the HeidiPowell.com domain name from the bankruptcy trustee and simultaneously transfer ownership of the HeidiPowell.com domain name back to Mr. and Mrs. Powell in a manner that will not cause any disruption to their ability to use the HeidiPowell.com domain name.

I trust that you will share this correspondence with your client. We will keep this offer open until 5:00 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time on Monday, October 3, 2016.

Please contact me with any questions.

Sincerely,

/s/ David E. Weslow
